CRS Data Announces Partnership with West Metro MLS Tax property data company expands reach in Georgia

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. – April 30, 2014 – CRS Data, a leading provider of public record information for real estate, banker and financial professionals in the U.S., has announced a long-term agreement with the West Metro Board of REALTORS®. This important new partnership will expand the company’s reach in Georgia, helping ensure that potential home buyers have access to dependable property data.

“Our decision to partner with CRS Data was based on the company’s historical past of providing reliable service and thorough data,” said Dwayne Hicks, President of West Metro Board of REALTORS. “With their team, we know that our members can access the data they need when they need it. Their product is user-friendly and accessible via a wide range of platforms, including iPads, iPhones and Androids.”

With more than 200 members of the West Metro MLS, the 3-year agreement ensures that agents across West Metro have access to CRS Data’s impeccable customer service and thorough data.

“The staff at CRS have excellent attitudes and are known for their customer service,” said Hicks.

Headquartered in Knoxville, Tenn., CRS Data currently provides access to comprehensive property data resources in more than 12 states and 500 counties. The company most recently expanded its data service to include 67 counties in Florida. Servicing bankers, MLSs, appraisers, investors, and other specialty financial customers, CRS Data is focused on providing accurate and timely property data, quality products and unparalleled customer satisfaction.

“We are pleased to continue expanding our reach in the state of Georgia,” said Rob Williamson, director of sales for CRS Data. “Georgia has been a key market for us because of our expansive coverage of county data so it was a logical next step that we work with West Metro to service their growing membership.”
