CRS Data Announces Partnership with Greater Augusta Association of REALTORS®

Tax property data company services 1,400 new real estate agents

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. – June 12, 2014 – CRS Data, a leading provider of public record information for real estate, banker and financial professionals in the U.S., has announced a long-term agreement with the Greater Augusta Association of REALTORS®. With a reputation built representing private property rights and legislation that promotes the interest of the homeowner since 1914, CRS Data is proud to partner with this well-respected association to provide its dependable property data.

“We chose to partner with CRS Data because of the company’s dedication to gathering thorough, dependable tax property data,” said Teresa Tiller, President of the Greater Augusta Association of REALTORS. “Their product is user-friendly and made available on a variety of devices, including iPads, iPhones and Androids, and their customer service is extremely reliable.”

The Greater Augusta Association of REALTORS includes more than 1,400 members, and the 5-year agreement connects each with access to tax county data in the following counties: Richmond, Columbia, McDuffie, Burke, Jefferson and Wilkes. Select counties in South Carolina will also be covered, including Aiken and Edgefield.

“We are very proud to be partnering with the Greater Augusta Association of REALTORS, with such a broad membership and a strong historical stronghold in the real estate community,” said Rob Williamson, director of sales for CRS Data. “As our Georgia county data continues to expand we hope that each real estate agent will continue to lean on CRS Data for their property intelligence.”

Headquartered in Knoxville, Tenn., CRS Data currently provides access to comprehensive property data resources in more than 12 states and 500 counties. The company most recently expanded its data service to include 67 counties in Florida. Servicing bankers, MLSs, appraisers, investors, and other specialty financial customers, CRS Data is focused on providing accurate and timely property data, quality products and unparalleled customer satisfaction.
